

About the Book

Cassie feels that her marriage to Jack has become a bit of a roller coaster ride rather than smooth sailing through the tunnel of love.

As the most popular boy in school and the Captain of the football team, Jack could have any girl he wanted, but he chose Cassie.

With all of their friends having children she is keen to start a family, but does she sense some reluctance on his part?

Although uneasy about his need to work much more overtime, followed by overnight stays at the company apartment in the city, she cast her doubts aside in her determination to make her marriage work.

Then out of the blue a text message and a chance encounter with a stranger changes everything.

About the Author

Mavis Parsons B.Ed., worked as a teacher in Victorian Secondary Schools. Born in England but growing up in the Melbourne suburbs of Moorabbin, Sandringham and Black Rock, her first priority has always been family followed by her love of reading and writing poetry and prose.

Being a keen observer of human nature and the natural world inspires and informs her writing. A member of Writers Victoria, Frankston Writers Block and Creative Writing Class U3A Frankston, Mavis has published five books and is a contributing author in seven anthologies. She was also runner up in the U3A Frankston 2017 Celebration of Talent poetry section.

Other Works

Click on this LINK to see more works by Mavis.